

PRESS RELEASE

Airmanship is AVIATORS' COMMON SENSE

You are invited to an
AIRMANSHIP AWARENESS DAY
At Brooklands Museum
Weybridge, Surrey, KT13 0QN
on

SUNDAY 28th APRIL 2013 10.00 -16.00

The Programme will be set to deal with aviation issues that concern you, and will help with ideas to make you a better aviator. These are the sort of things that you learn over time on the job - but come and laugh and learn with acknowledged experts.

In an informal atmosphere, a group of experts will encourage you to become mature wise aviators who understand what "Airmanship" is really about. For example you may hear about the art of Defensive Flying, good R/T discipline, Reducing Stress in the cockpit on your flights, and how to avoid Emergencies, together with other solutions to aviators and non aviator problems.

Our experts will be from wide ranging backgrounds, hold various licenses with numerous ratings. They have flown thousands of hours in single crew, multi crew, instructing, aerobatics, and air display/race environments on all types of flying machines.

The fee is £30, which includes museum entry
Museum information can be found at www.brooklandsmuseum.com
